

Photographs taken in 1969 when Prince Sadruddin Aga Khan, the then U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees, came to Santiago, Chile on an official visit.

"With the express permission from Mawlana Hazer Imam, we invited the Prince to visit our residence where we had the Jamatkhana."

-Abdul Mamdani

Prince is inspecting the official guard of honour

Top photo: The Prince laid a wreath at the tomb of General Bernardo O'Higgins, First President of Chile

© Abdul Mamdani

Prince Sadruddin talking to the Indian Ambassador to Chile at a reception given in honour of the Prince's visit and attended by the diplomatic corps

© Abdul Mamdani

THE PRINCE AND HIS REPRESENTATIVE WITH THE CHILEAN MINISTER OF EXTERNAL AFFAIRES

The Prince and his representative for South America, with the Chilean Minister of External Affairs

With members of the Jamat in Santiago

The Prince talking to the Indian Ambassador on the phone. The Government Protocol Officer and assistant at right

© Abdul Mamdani

The Prince with my one year old daughter Rahima (now Director of Human Resources at the United Way of Greater Toronto) and my sister.

Copyright: Abdul Mamdani
Released by: <http://ismailimail.wordpress.com>